Reason for change:

Due to application-specific requirements from the electromobility market, water-bearing, nickel-plated brass plug-in connections (fittings) for water cooling must be avoided. We are therefore converting all water connections for the product lines and components listed below to stainless steel. This will not change or impair the previous functionality.

Discontinued product series and products	Replacement
Description	Description
PRODUCT NAME	Successor product
AXIALSCAN FIBER RD with apertures 20 mm, 30 mm and 50 mm	No change to article name and article number
Coll Set ASF 14,4 f-*
Coll Kit ASF 14,4 f-*
AM-MODULE III

Graphic overview:

The dimensions of the new stainless steel water plug-in connections differ only slightly from the previous nickel-plated brass plug-in connections (→ see graphic overview).

Due to their position on the master block of the deflection units and on the collimators, it cannot be assumed that this will cause collisions in existing machine generations.
